

JEALOUSY LEADS TO SHOOTINGLawrence Woman Murdered
As Her Children
Look On.

Lawrence, Nov. 30.—Jealousy is supposed to have led to the killing of Mrs. Veronica Britnas, a widow, aged 30, in a Harrigan street boarding house Friday night. Joseph Warnes, aged 28, a machinist, who was arrested several hours later, is said by the police to have admitted the killing.

According to the police, the man was under the influence of liquor and unable to give a connected story.

Mrs. Britnas met her death in the kitchen of the boarding house in the presence of her two young children. Her assailant is said to have entered the room carrying a revolver in each hand. After several boarders, who attempted to interfere with the man's purpose, had retreated to the head of the stairway they heard six shots fired. Mrs. Britnas fell dead with four bullets in her body and the murderer fled.

The police say that Warnes has been keeping company with the woman and was jealous of other men.

ARMISTICE MAY
BE SIGNEDCessation of Hostilities for at Least a Fortnight Expected on Sunday

London, Nov. 29.—Constantinople tonight reports the probability of a fortnight's armistice being signed on Sunday by the peace plenipotentiaries who are negotiating for a cessation of hostilities between the Turks and the allies.

From the Bulgarian side there has been no news today concerning the peace negotiations except the vague statement that they are making satisfactory progress. Nothing has transpired as to whether the proposed armistice will affect the whole field or war operations or only the Tchaudja lines.

The news received today of the surrender of two entire divisions of Turkish reserves to the Bulgarians near Demotica, a short distance south of Adrianople after severe fighting, shows there are still large isolated bodies of Turkish troops unaccounted for and which must be considered in arranging armistice.

The allies are said to have large numbers of men aboard Greek transports bound from the Gulf of Salonik either for Gallipoli Peninsula, which separates the Dardanelles from the Aegean sea, or to join the allied army at Tenedos.

No news has been received concerning these transports as yet and the disposal of the men they carry, in the event an armistice is arranged, would present some difficulty.

Although it is not yet safe to assume that an armistice is in sight, the fact that the negotiations continued at Bucharest and that apparently no definite time limit has been fixed as to the duration of the existing suspension of hostilities, tends toward the belief that a peaceful solution of the trouble is approaching.

There were no fresh developments today concerning the proposed conference between the Powers on the Balkan situation or concerning the dispute between Austria and Serbia as to the occupation by the latter country of a port on the Adriatic.

Special dispatches from Vienna represent the crisis there growing out of the Balkan situation as having a most serious effect on Viennese trade. Jewelers, milliners and dressmakers are complaining bitterly that they are suffering heavy losses through the absence of the usual Christmas business. The theatres and other amusement places and restaurants are declared to be in a like position.

This state of affairs, the dispatches say, tends to engender a warlike feeling and the people are demanding that the Government take a firm grip on the situation in order to prevent a prolonged crisis and a consequent loss of trade.

CHARGED WITH INTOXICATIONChauffeur Charged With Accident in Which Four Were Injured.

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 29.—Theodore Clouthier, 30 years old, of 167 Merrimack street, a chauffeur employed by Howard L. Lamprey, is under arrest in the City Prison, charged with operating a machine while intoxicated and with stealing a ride, while two other members of a party of automobilists are in the Sacred Heart Hospital in a critical condition and a third was taken to the hospital, but was discharged.

Clouthier will be arraigned tomorrow.

The accident occurred late last night, but Clouthier was arrested today. The scene of the accident was the New boulevard on Hanover Hill, between Hill and Belmont streets and eight minutes after the call for the ambulance was received by the police the four members of the party were in the Sacred Heart Hospital. The injured are Damase Labreque, 25 years old, of 118 Merrimack street, fractured skull and other injuries; condition critical.

Edward Goodreau, of 19 Lake avenue, skull fractured; condition critical. The third man was Edward St. Hilaire of Boston, visiting Goodreau for the holiday. He was bruised on the head and body, but was discharged from the hospital.

Clouthier was cut up on the head and bruised but not seriously injured. Witnesses are unable to tell whether the car came directly down Hanover Hill from the summit, or whether it turned into Hanover street from Belmont street.

At any rate, as the machine struck Belmont street there was a report and a grinding crash as the machine hurled over and capsized, rolling down the hill. The occupants were thrown out and the machine wrecked. The "car," a big touring machine, was the property of Christopher A. Welch of Pittsfield, and was in Mr. Lamprey's garage for an overhauling. It is supposed that Clouthier finished his work and invited his friends to take a spin with him.

Mr. Lamprey says Clouthier has been in his employ two years and a half and his work has been of the highest order. He says when repairs on a machine are finished that it is taken out for a trial spin and that usually it carried passengers to test the load on grade. He says Clouthier is a careful man, and that his reports on all cars are thorough. He believes Clouthier finished the repairs on the car and was trying it when the accident occurred.

Labreque is the most seriously injured of the party. Goodreau is nearly as seriously hurt as Labreque and the recovery of either is extremely doubtful. It was said tonight at the hospital that the names of both men are on the dangerous list.

FOR BUSINESS TO GET THERE.

No automobile has anything on the Cadillac and the 1913 is better than ever.

The local agent has driven his 1913 car 4561 miles, within 8 weeks past when he received his first car.

It has made two trips through the White mountains, over the logging roads at Errol and Wentworth Location, through Dixville Notch, when all was white with snow. It went to Poland Springs and to New York and New Jersey for a continuous trip of 1000 miles. A week ago it went to the Yale and Harvard game at New Haven, covering over 500 miles in two days, and was the only automobile this side of Boston to make the trip.

It has covered over 1600 miles within the last two weeks. Only three stops were necessary on the road for tires, and only four punctures in 4500 miles. All tires are still usable and two look good for 4500 miles more.

Gasoline averages 12 miles to the gallon and oil over 1000 miles to the gallon.

It has not been necessary to remove a foot from the kit except for tire trouble.

These trips have been through snow, mud, rain, moon and sunshine, over mountains and through woods, with the axles dragging in mud. Speed 5 to 50 miles an hour. Newburyport is within 40 minutes' ride, while Boston is easy in two hours.

The petition for the removal of the local police commissioners, presented on Friday to Governor Bass and council, was signed by only four persons, not ten as the types made us say.

Charles W. Osborne is restricted to his home on Hanover street by illness.

FOUND GUILTY
OF BRIBERYCharles H. Hyde, Former New York
City Official, Is Convicted

New York, Nov. 30.—Charles H. Hyde, former city chamberlain, was found guilty tonight of bribery in connection with the performance of his duties as a city official. The jury, which has been hearing his case in the supreme court, rendered its verdict shortly before midnight, after nearly three and a half hours' deliberation.

Hyde's case was given to the jury at 8:05 o'clock tonight at the close of a two hours' charge by Supreme Court Justice Goff. Half an hour later, the jury went to dinner, resuming their deliberations as soon as their meal was finished.

Hyde was accused in the words of the state's counsel to the jury, of using "the power and pressure of his official position, unlawfully to induce" Joseph G. Robin, head of the now defunct Northern bank, to cause the bank to loan the tottering Carnegie Trust company $130,000.

Counsel for the state and for defense spent the final day of the trial in summing up. Max D. Steuer, for Hyde, took up the morning session and Asst. Dist. Attorney Moss for the prosecution the afternoon session.

Mr. Moss in urging the jury to convict Hyde, dwelt on two important factors of the defense—the alleged mental condition of Robin, whose story told the district attorney brought about Hyde's indictment and the alibi built up for the accused, who swore on the stand that he was at home with his family at the time, according to Robin. Hyde was in conference with the banker and bringing pressure to bear to force the loan.

Taking up the claim of the defense that Robin is insane, and his testimony therefore valueless, Mr. Moss attacked the testimony of Dr. Austin Flint and the other alienist, for Hyde and warmly defended Robin's sanity.

In dealing with the alibi, the prosecutor picked many flaws in Hyde's attempt to show that he was not with Robin at the time the alleged coercion was attempted.

"This alibi is full of holes," declared Mr. Moss who remarked on what he declared was a lack of testimony to sustain it from essential witnesses easily procurable by the defendant.

In his summing up for Hyde, Mr. Steuer tried to show that the facts brought out during the trial in themselves were such as to have made impossible the conversation which Robin said took place between him and Hyde in reference to the bribery charge.

Justice Goff in his charge to the jury said:

"The meat of the charge is: 'Did the defendant receive something by which in his course of action was influenced?' If he did, then he is guilty of the charge of bribery. If there was any consideration whatever—even if it was of no intrinsic value—the position is the same. It is not necessary that it be given him, the giving to a friend is the same. If Hyde threatened to withdraw deposits from the Northern bank, he should be found guilty."

FOUND DEAD ON TRAIN

A young man thought to be E. J. Johnson of Boston was found dead on the late train from Boston on its arrival here at 11:35 last night.

The man was one of a gang of lumbermen, being taken to the Great Northern Lumber camp in Maine, and he was apparently well when the train left Boston. He was sitting in a seat alone and with his hat pulled down over his eyes, apparently asleep. He was not noticed until after the train stopped in this city, when something about his position led one of the men to try and arouse him, and he found he was dead. The train was held and the body removed to the baggage room, and Medical Referee W. D. Walker was called. He thought death was due to natural causes.

Little is known about the man, and the only thing found on him was a card with the name of E. J. Johnson, also an employment agency card.

SUFFRAGISTS DESTROY MAIL WITH ACID

London—Late last night a suffragist raid was made on the letter boxes not only of London, but of the principal provincial cities. Chemicals of an inflammable and destructive nature were emptied into these with the result that considerable damage has been done.

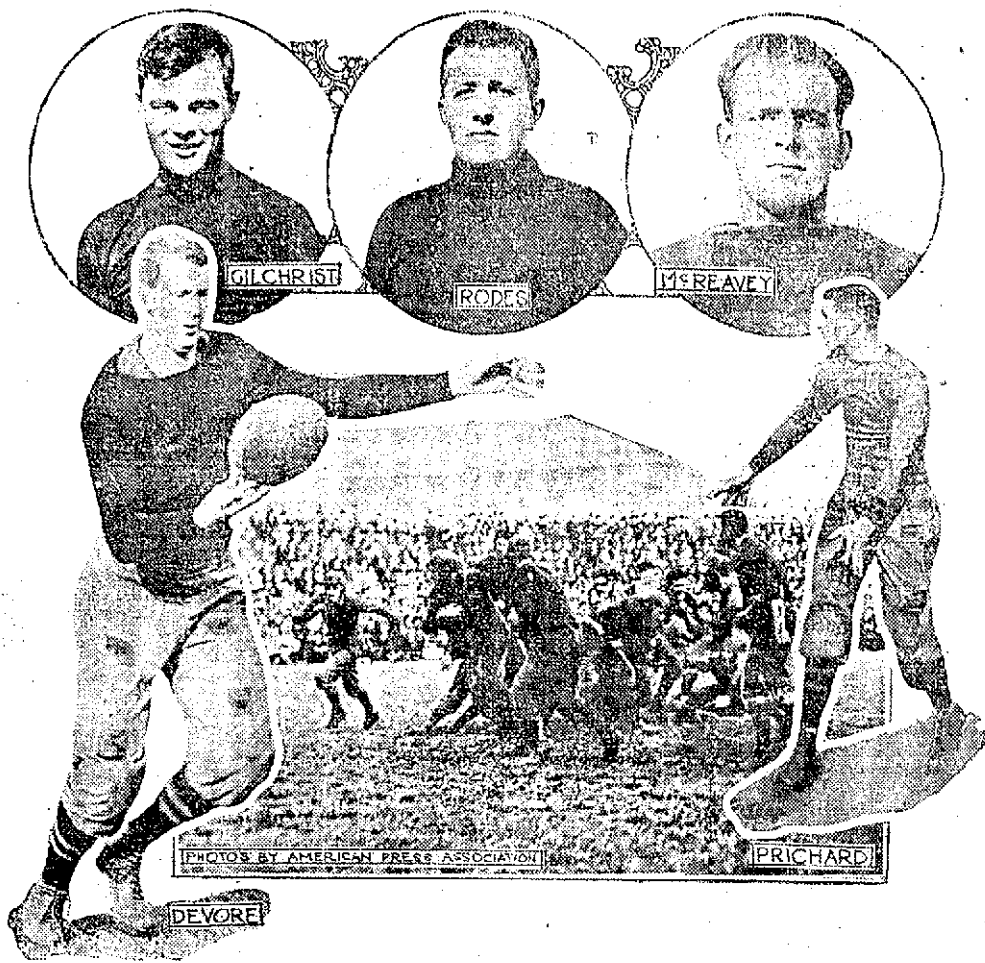

Probably as is always the case at first blush, the damage has been exaggerated and until the postoffice has had time to examine all the results, it will be difficult to say whether from the suffragists' point of view the raid has been as successful as it now appears.

Army and Navy Elevens Ready to Clash in Annual Big Gridiron Battle

Philadelphia, Nov. 30.—The Army and Navy elevens are ready for their annual gridiron battle to be played here on Franklin field today. As a spectacle the West Point-Annapolis game takes precedence over all others, even though the football is below the standard set by some of the bigger elevens, but there is action every minute. The West Point team is the favorite, and the chances look reasonably bright for it to get some revenge for defeats in the last two years. The midshipmen after going through two seasons without a defeat struck a snag this year and came up to their last game with little or no prestige. It does not follow, however, that they will be beaten for the past week the Annapolis players have been working like demons to absorb the football taught by the coaches. It is held that individually the Navy team is stronger than the Army. The Army and Navy teams have met sixteen times, and each has won eight. The first game played between the elevens was in 1890, and the Navy won by a score of 24 to 0. The probable lineup of the two teams will

WORK FOR MONEY BUT STAY AT SCHOOL

They do not allow working to interfere with going to school in Hammond, Indiana. Special arrangements are being made whereby boys and girls may work half a day in certain commercial establishments and attend school the balance of the day. Hammond is a manufacturing community where the temptation to boys and girls is strong to leave school and earn a living. Supt. McDaniel's plan makes it possible for boys and girls to earn money, remain in school, and also make themselves more efficient industrially.

The plan at Hammond is based on a full realization of modern social and industrial conditions. Supt. McDaniel proceeds on the theory that, while there are certain general principles underlying education, each community has its own special problems that are too often disregarded in the making of the schools. Besides the cooperative and shop arrangement, Hammond maintains a night school with an attendance of 700, where boys and girls may not only make up elementary deficiencies but also receive special training in specific phases of commerce and industry.

Vocational guidance forms another feature of the Hammond school. The schools furnish information about the various industries in the community, the salaries paid in different lines of work, the opportunities for advancement, hours of labor, permanency of employment, and all of the details of value in determining a choice of employment. As early as the sixth grade the teacher tests the child's interest and ability in various forms of elementary work, so that he may come to have some idea of a future vocation. The school authorities also maintain an employment bureau where present and former pupils are registered and their qualifications carefully investigated.

ALL EUROPE IS IN NERVOUS TENSION

Servia's Defiance of Austria Expected to Cause Trouble.

London, Nov. 29.—Europe is being kept in a state of nervous tension by the preparations for eventualities which the powers directly interested in the Balkan situation are making, and by Servia's contemptuous attitude toward Austria's prohibition against the occupation by a similar force taking action.

Servia appears to fear that Austria-Hungary will not wait for the whole question of the Balkans to be considered by a conference of the European powers after the cessation of hostilities. According to reports reaching here from Vienna, she is mobilizing her army on the Austrian frontier for the protection of her territory.

Elsewhere a more optimistic view is held, and although a warlike feeling prevails in Vienna and St. Petersburg, where public enthusiasm has been aroused by the singing of National anthems and war songs, and a sensation has been made by the calling to the colors of the army reservists, the rulers and ministers of Russia and Austria-Hungary continue working to avert a conflict.

The suggestion has been thrown out in one diplomatic quarter that the matter would be quickly settled if Servia were given the port of San Giovanni di Medua on the same terms as those by which Montenegro held Antivari until 1908.

Those conditions were that no fort should be erected and no Montenegrin warship should be stationed there and that no foreign warship should be admitted to the port.

Neither Servia or Austria-Hungary has expressed an opinion on this proposal and so far as is known there has been no relaxation from the original demand of the Servians for ports of the Adriatic near on the part of Austria-Hungary in prohibiting her from taking them.

CHARGES AGAINST POLICE COMMISSIONERS TO BE HEARD

Governor and Council Set December 11th as Date of Hearing—Manchester Commission Case Reopened.

At a meeting of the Governor and Council on Friday afternoon at the State House in Concord, charges were received against the Police Commissioners of this city, Messrs. M. C. Foye and T. I. Norris, and Chief of Police Thomas Entwistle. The charges the substance of which are given in another column, were received by Governor Bass, and submitted to the Council and on his recommendation they were combined with previous charges made by D.

W. Badger and a hearing has been set for December 11, at which time the signers of the petition will be summoned to appear with their evidence.

The charges against the Manchester Police Commissioners, and Chief M. J. Healey, were reopened and another hearing will be granted on Dec. 11th. These charges are the result of the Chief of Police of Manchester refusing to allow open air speaking during the Lawrence strike.

CHINA MAY WAR ON RUSSIA

San Francisco, Nov. 29.—The Chinese Six Companies of this city and other Chinese organizations posted notices last night for every Chinese to be ready to contribute at least $10 for a fund for war between China and Russia. This action followed the receipt of a cablegram from a Chinese newspaper telling of the imminence of war between the two countries, on account of Russia's refusal to remove troops from Mongolia. The despatches said that reserves were being mobilized in Mongolia, and that troops were being drilled in Canton to be in readiness for an emergency call. It was admitted at the Chinese Consulate that subscriptions had been pouring in for the war fund for the last few days in amounts ranging from $100 to $1000. Many were received by telegraph from Chinese in various parts of the country.

DARTMOUTH GIVEN FOURTH POSITION

New York, Nov. 29.—With the 1912 football season closed, except for the army-navy battle in Philadelphia tomorrow, experts of the new style play today found a big disappointment in reviewing the styles of attack used by the eastern eleven in their big games.

Despite the chances for long gains, and spectacular plays afforded by the new open game, the majority of the eleven stuck to the old system of making gains through mass plunges, and the forward pass predicated as the most popular innovation in football in ten years, was used only on rare occasions.

Harvard is the undisputed champion of the east and her record of ten victories and no defeats is better than any of the big western colleges. Princeton is given second ranking, Carleton third, Dartmouth fourth, and Yale fifth.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bedwetting. There is constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, box W, Notre Dame, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child the chances are that it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

"FOR PORTSMOUTH AND PORTSMOUTH'S INTERESTS."

Portsmouth, N. H., Saturday, November 30, 1912.

Our Chamber of Commerce.

Major Henry L. Higginson says: "I think our Boston Chamber of Commerce is doing all it can to drive business away from the port of Boston."

"The Chamber of Commerce and the people of Boston can't treat the New Haven road unjustly and then expect foreign capital to come and build roads in the same territory. Indeed by the treatment the New Haven railroad is receiving we are saying to everybody: 'Don't build in New England.' What use then to come out scolding people because they won't or can't build railroads here?"

"The crying need of the hour is money for the upbuilding of transportation interests. The railroads want money and when you encourage anybody to spend money uselessly in New England in unnecessary duplication of tracks or railroad facilities you hurt the whole railroad field. If money is thrown away or wasted in New England by the Grand Trunk or anybody else, no permanent good can come of it."

"Everybody knows that the Boston and Maine railroad has been in need of millions for its upbuilding for years. The New Haven has taken responsible ownership in it and has as much interest in its development as anybody."—Boston News Bureau, No. 26.

The opinion of Henry L. Higginson regarding the attitude of the Boston Chamber of Commerce should be read by every citizen of Massachusetts. He is giving the politicians of Boston some good advice.

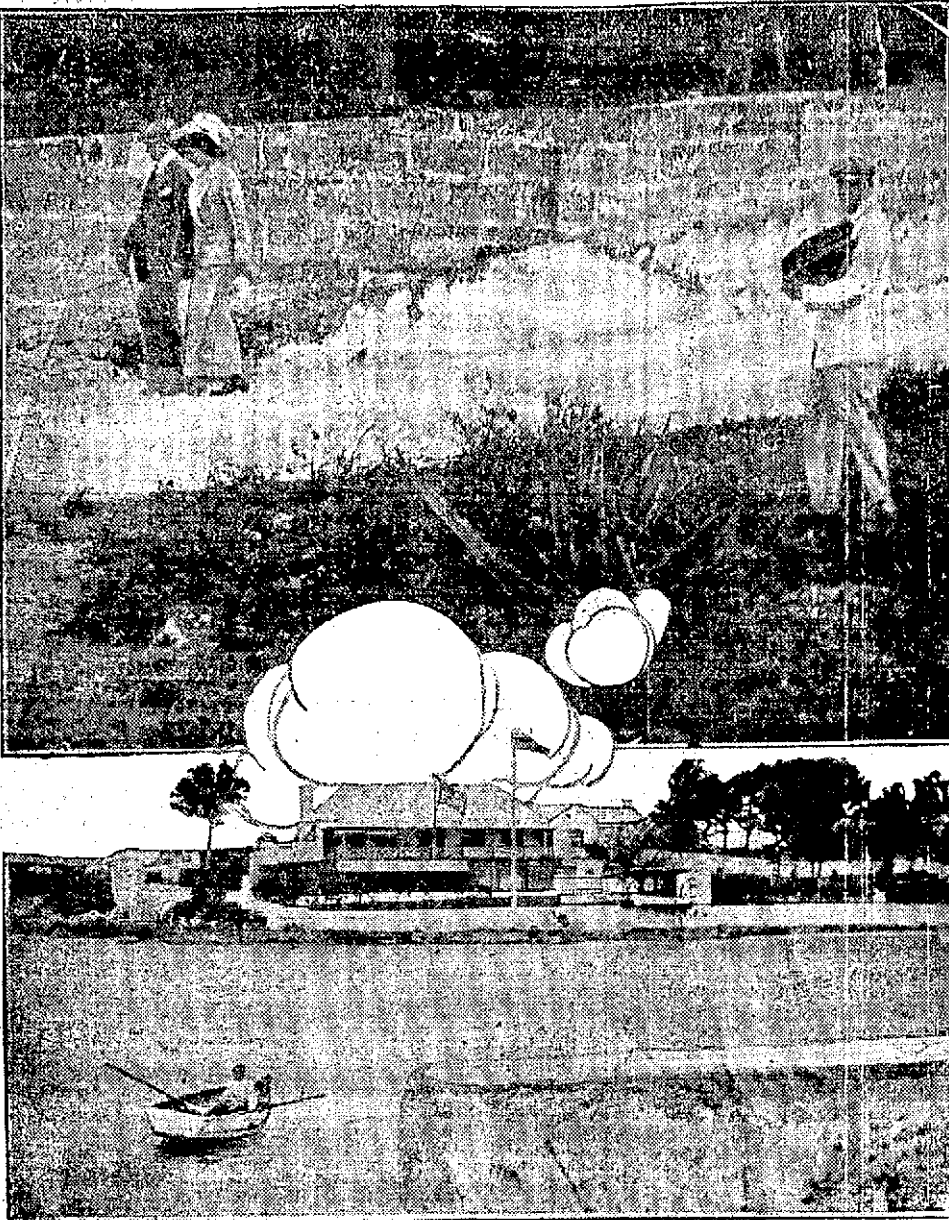

The deer hunting season in the seven lower counties of the Granite State opens December 1, (which date, by the way, falls on Sunday this year, a day when it is illegal to hunt any kind of game), and continues during the first fifteen days of December. In Belknap county, and most of the other seven counties, the use of rifles is prohibited, and shot guns only must be used, with a single ball or buck-shot. In these seven counties no person shall kill more than one deer during the open season, but from the reading of the game laws we should judge that a hunter might kill two deer in the northern counties of the State and then come down into the lower counties and kill another, although this probably was not the intention of the framers of the law. Hunters should bear in mind that the last legislature adopted a measure relating to the carelessness and negligence of hunters who go out into the woods and blaze away at everything they see moving, without stopping to ascertain whether it is a human being. The new law provides a two years, for any hunter who carelessly or negligently wounds or kills any human being. Two hunters have already been killed in New Hampshire during the present hunting season, but in both cases the accident appears to have been caused by their own carelessness. In Wisconsin twelve persons have been killed and ten dangerously injured since September 1. In Michigan, in a single county, four men, mistaken for deer, were shot in three days.—Laconia Democrat.

The Chicago News says it has been suggested that the people's national, state and local governments might with propriety help to finance from the public funds the campaigns of candidates for public office. In Oregon, to cite one example, the authorities circulate at public expense a campaign pamphlet in which every candidate is allowed a certain amount of space to present to the voters the arguments for his election. This plan has much to commend it, since each candidate has an equal chance with every other candidate to place before the voters his claims to their favor.

The United States government has a system of aiding some candidates. The system is therefore open to serious objection because of its rank favoritism. A member of Congress who is a candidate for re-election can have his political documents printed in the Congressional Record and then he can send them through the mails free of charge. He has to pay the actual cost of printing, but there is no charge for postage, which is by far the largest item of expense when campaign material is sent to voters. The candidate who is opposing the man in office must pay full postage on all matter that he sends through the mails.

The New York Herald remarks that so marvelous in the celerity with which the Balkan campaigns of the allies have been conducted and so sure seem their results that it may not be premature to attempt a rough estimate of some of the military causes responsible for the outcome. The overmastering reason rests undoubtedly on the obvious fact of the unrelenting preparedness of the allies and on the fatuous neglect of the Osmanlis to recognize possibilities that would have to be faced. At the forced outbreak of hostilities the Balkan armies took the field equipped to the last button and so organized that their mobility finds no parallel save in the Franco-German war. Opposed to these forces was an army whose great tradition had been dulled by the rascalities of politics and whose administrators committed the ever fatal error of underestimating enemies who had been their vassals for centuries.

President Elect Wilson Out For a Walk And the Cottage He Occupies In Bermuda.

Photographs by American Press Association.

The upper photograph shows Mr. Wilson and his daughter Eleanor in one of the picturesque roads of Hamilton, shortly after his arrival in the "Fairy Isles." In the foreground is a photographer, who was threatened with a thrashing when he suddenly obtruded on the governor. The camera man afterward apologized and was forgiven. The Wilson cottage at Glen Cove, Paget, is ideally located for privacy and beauty of outlook. In fact, the whole place is a heavenly spot, whose charm just as effectively adds new color to honeymoon dreams as it rests and tranquilizes a nerve-worn public man.

Current Comment.

Maryland and Protection.

Mr. Rayner's successor will be a republican and will serve a year. He will participate in the tariff tussle of the extra session, and of course vote with his party. Will a vote against the proposition that protection is unconstitutional, and in favor of reasonable protection duties in the revision of the Payne law, misrepresent the sentiment of a majority of the people of Maryland?

As we all know, Mr. Gorman was a protectionist, and never disguised his tariff views. Six years before he was leader of the Senate recast the Wilson tariff bill. He was Mr. Cleveland's representative at a democratic national convention striving to neutralize the effect of Mr. Cleveland's low tariff message of December, 1887, but failed. The convention in its tariff plank held him partly to the message.

After the passage of the Gorman-Wilson bill Mr. Gorman was relieved for a term from the Senate, but not as the result of his tariff performance. Maryland would not accept the democratic platform of 1886, and voted against the silver coinage. Mr. Gorman supported Mr. Bryan, but perfunctorily. He was as much a gold man as protectionist, and lost his seat in the Senate, not because of what he had done to the Wilson tariff bill, but because of what his party had done at Chicago in committing itself to free silver.

Nor do the figures of the recent election show Maryland to be an anti-protection state. Mr. Wilson had only a plurality. The full vote cast for him was 112,674; the total vote cast for Taft, Roosevelt, Debs and Chas. was 115,625. To the extent, therefore, that the tariff figured in the equation Maryland did not subscribe to Mr. Bryan's dictum delivered at Baltimore that protection is unconstitutional, and that the tariff should be laid for revenue only.

Maryland is a thriving state and Baltimore a thriving city. Manufacturing has increased rapidly of late years. enormous sums are now invested, and he tariff is an interesting question to both capital and labor. The business interests today are quite as much concerned about keeping the wheels turning as they were in 1896 about keeping money sound. Maryland, indeed, it is safe to say, is as far from desiring free trade as she was from desiring free silver coinage. The majority of her people are for both protection and sound money.

Mr. Rayner will be missed by his party in the Senate. He spoke with much power, and always with sincerity. But the Republican successor in supporting a reasonable protection for both Maryland industries and the industries of other states will not go counter to state sentiment several times declared at the polls.—Washington Star.

RAILROAD NOTES

The American Express company is handling heavy automobile shipment daily between Amesbury, Mass., and Lansing, Mich., via the Boston and Maine and New York Central.

George B. Randall, for many years an engineer running the 5.30 p. m. train between this city and Wolfboro, running on the old Boston, Concord and Montreal railroad, is dead at Lakeport, aged 74. He served for fifty-seven years at the throttle of his engine until 1911, when he retired from active work on a pension. For many years he ran an engine on the present White Mountain and Concord divisions. After the Lake Shore road was opened he ran the train between Laconia and Alton Bay. When the road was consolidated with the Boston and Maine he ran the train between Laconia and Dover. He was popular, not only with his fellow railroad men but also with a host of friends. In all of his long years of service he never had an accident.

A force of carpenters and bridge builders of the Boston and Maine now at Farmington will be sent to Portsmouth to work with the local crew in construction of the Noble's Island bridge as soon as the material for the same is assembled here.

The Boston and Maine and Portsmouth electric railway employees were paid yesterday.

The Fitchburg shops of the Boston and Maine are constructing 10 modern freight cabooses for extra crews in service which are now using short lamp coaches.

The New Haven and Boston and Albany railroads handled 180,000 people at the South station Wednesday, and the Boston and Maine 155,000 at the North station.

Freight traffic over the Boston and Maine lines passing through Concord has not been so good for several years as at present. Practically every night one, two and often three double headed freight trains are sent north. Empty cars are being rushed to Midlands, Ont., for wheat and grain shipments and many of the south-bound freights from this city are made up entirely of cars of export grain. Extra trainmen and firemen are being taken on and it is expected with the coming of snow, and heavy lumber shipments more men will be employed.

Boston and Maine earnings for October, issued this morning, are notable as indicating the continued upward trend of gross business of that road, but, unfortunately, with a loosening grip on the expense account. For the first three months of the fiscal year, ended with Sept. 30, the road had increased its gross business over the same period of 1911 by $225,552, and it actually carried that larger business at a smaller cost than it had carried the smaller volume of business in the 1911 year. With October, however, while it showed a gain of $220,000 in gross, only about 61 per cent. of it was saved for net. The October earnings show that during that month total gross amounted to $4,516,478, an increase of $401,134 or nearly 10 per cent. Net earnings for the month increased $195,335, or 23 per cent. For the four months of its fiscal year Boston and Maine had done $1,325,687, or 8 per cent. more gross business than during the same period of last year, with an increase in net for the four months of $1,148,730, or 22 per cent. It has, in other words, wiped out last year's deficit, with a margin of over $600,000 to spare.

The operating department of the New Haven has added new buffet and parlor car equipment to the 8 a. m. New York express via Waterbury, from the South station.

Manager H. H. Burton of the Armstrong Dining Room and News company is passing a few days at his home in Woodsville, N. H.

NEEDLEWORK NOTES

Crocheted bedspreads are the fashion again. One of the prettiest patterns is formed of blocks crocheted together and may be made of carpet work or a coarse white twisted crocheted cotton.

A small square cushion, which would be especially nice for a guest-room, is covered with blue silk, and over this a flared cover of white is drawn. This dainty little bit of blue and white is then supplied with blue and white beaded pins, neatly arranged, all ready for the guests' use.

Corals and canoes are still apparent on some of the best frocks which are designed for evening wear, but the really beautiful combination in crowded embroidery for next season will undoubtedly be pearls with paste or rhin in colors, especially when edged with diamonds or narrow gold filigree. This forms an effective trimming for the somber black or dark frock that is so useful for wearing in hotels.

Belts are shown in a variety of widths, the slim-waisted woman doing well if she selects a narrow band of black glass kid, inset with color put under straps of the same. Buckles are fanciful metal ones being used with good effect on some of the decorated synthetic bands of the new dresses.

MUSIC AT STATE PRISON

Navy Man Leads Orchestra—
One Man Was Formerly a Teacher.

The state prison orchestra, which has been practising for two months, made its bow at the Thanksgiving entertainment in the chapel Thursday morning.

Previously the orchestra had participated in the Sunday morning chapel exercises, and given two concerts a week but yesterday, the musicians carried out with vim the most ambitious program they had yet arranged for the entertainment of their fellow inmates.

A Filipino, who has had much experience as a member of a marine band, is the chief cornet soloist. He owns a very valuable cornet. The trombone player has learned the instrument since the orchestra was formed two months ago. He has been allowed to practice an hour and a half every day.

The pianist is a convict who was a music teacher before his incarceration. The orchestra contains seven pieces.

Warden Scott feels that such of his inmates who possess skill as musicians should not be forced to lose their talent through lack of practice while in prison, and as the music provided is greatly enjoyed by the other convicts the experiment is working out very satisfactorily.

Besides the special music, the prison entertainment included a first class moving picture show, and the usual bountiful dinner.

CELEBRATE THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING ON THANKSGIVING

Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Frye of Eliot Have a Double Observance

The pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua L. Frye at Eliot was the scene of a double observance on Thanksgiving day, the occasion being the golden wedding anniversary of the estimable couple and the home coming of the children, grandchildren and great grandchildren to observe the holiday thirty-three being present.

The presents bestowed on this rare occasion, including a purse of gold and other beautiful presents amounting to upwards of $100 in value. One of the most noteworthy presents of the day was an elegant rolled gold ring from the groom to the bride.

After the presentation of the presents in general by Horace E. Frye of Portsmouth and the acceptance in behalf of the aged couple by their son E. Clinton Frye a very pretty program was carried out.

A handsome mission rocking chair from the grand children to grandfather was presented by little Miss

Verna J. Rall, the following verses accompanying the gift:

Our Gift
"We've brought a chair of good hard wood,
And made in mission style,
It isn't much to look at,
But will last a good long while
And when your sitting by the fire
And feeling kind of blue,
Remember that the children bought
Had a kindly thought of you,
It hasn't much of polished brass,
Or surfaces to shine,
But it's easy, large and comfortable,
We think it will suit you fine.
And when we've left you here alone,
With the shining stars above you,
Remember that the children bought
"Their gift" because they love you."

Next followed the presentation in

The songs "Golden City" and "Come Gather Round the Table" were rendered and then to the tune of the wedding march played by Miss Bernice E. Frye the assemblage marched to the dinner table where after grace had been offered by Horace E. Frye all did ample justice to the good things that had been prepared by the hostess. A large wedding cake, made by C. L. Sherwood, richly ornamented and bearing the word "To the 50th Anniversary" occupied a conspicuous place on the festive board.

Following the dinner there was general singing by the assemblage. The Sparrow Song was rendered by Horace and Miss Beatrice Frye. Mrs. Horace E. Frye gave a reading entitled the "Golden Anniversary" and for an encore read the following original verses:

"Our neighbors, as they sowed their seed
Or sat down to read their books,
Would stop, and say, there goes Josh
Frye for Mary Ellen Brooks."

L. C. F.

Song by all, "Put on Your Old Gray Bonnet."
Song—"The Land Where We Never Grow Old" by Horace Frye with the company joining in chorus.
Reading by Miss Lizzie Bennett, entitled "Why He Wouldn't Sell the Farm," with encore, "Bridget O'Flanagan."

Recitation by Verna J. Rall, closing with "God be With You Till We Meet Again."

Joshua L. Frye was born at Eliot, Nov. 17, 1832, the son of Daniel and Jane Frye and has always occupied the homestead where he was born.

Mrs. Frye's maiden name was Mary Ellen Brooks, daughter of Levi and Shur Brooks and was born at South Eliot August 28, 1840. Their marriage took place at South Berwick on Nov. 28, 1862. As the result of the union four children were born, all of whom are living, Mrs. Charles A. Rall, Mrs. Horace P. Abbott, Mrs. Emma Frye of Eliot and E. Clinton Frye of Portsmouth. They have eleven grandchildren and three great grandchildren. In the four generations of the immediate family of the venerable couple comprising 24, only one death has occurred in this space of fifty years.

BIG COMEDY BILL AT THE PORTSMOUTH THEATRE MONDAY.

The bill for the Portsmouth theatre for Monday will be of a high order and in the line of a change Charles Backus & Co. will present a comedy sketch, "Taming the Son," and it is a scream. Miss Sylvia Adams, a young lady with a fine voice, and a comedienne of class, will be seen.

The film portion has been carefully selected and contains an interesting Essay subject, Broncho Billy's Mexican wife and a laugh produced by the well known Kalem producers entitled "The Mayor of Inland."

WILL NOT MAKE TREATY WITH RUSSIA

Washington, Nov. 29.—The Taft administration it has been known to do, does not intend to make any agreement or to enter into a modus vivendi to supplant the treaty with Russia which expires Jan. 1. The question of a new treaty and the subject of the treatment of American Jews traveling in Russia which raised such a storm all over the United States last spring, will be one of the heritages that Mr. Taft will leave to Mr. Wilson. Although there have been conflicting reports as to the Administration's plan toward Russia, a letter from the President to Simon Wolf, Washington representative of the Hebrew Congregations, and the order of Mr. Nai B. Rith, just made public, clearly indicated the President's intention of allowing his successor to settle this question. President Taft's letter to Mr. Wolf read as follows:

"I have your letter of Nov. 22 in which you refer to the report that we are engaged in making a temporary agreement with Russia to take the place of the agreement which we have abrogated. I beg to assure you that we don't expect to make an agreement of this kind or of any kind. What we have been doing is examining existing treaties and statutes and international law applicable to a situation like that which will occur after our treaty with Russia of 1832 shall cease to be. We do not expect to change by any agreement or so called modus vivendi, the status, upon which the abrogation of the treaty will leave on the 1st of January by its ceasing to have effect.

London, Nov. 29.—The Odessa correspondent of the Post claims to have learned that the Russo-American treaty of commerce will be renewed in amended form on January 1 next, the United States having waived the passport question.

The statement relates to the following reports telegraphed from London. The Odessa correspondent of the Post claims to have learned that the Russo-American treaty of commerce will be renewed in amended form on January 1 next, the United States having waived the passport question.

THE LARGEST WOMAN IN THE WORLD

Montreal, Nov. 28.—Justine Mason, who weighed 780 pounds and is said to have been the largest woman in the world, died here today. Several months ago she became insane and was taken in charge by Assistant Public. In the institution she became famous for exploits of strength during fits of insanity, when even the walls of her room failed to restrain her and it became necessary to build a roundhouse outside the main building especially for her.

As an Undertaker in Montreal would endanger his horse the body was removed from the institution in an express wagon. A specially built coffin will be necessary to inter the remains.

NEW YORK VOTERS FAVOR GOOD ROADS

Albany, Nov. 29.—According to official returns received by state engineer John A. Bengel from county clerks the good roads proposition, calling for a bond issue of $50,000,000 was given a majority in every county in the state. New York gave it more than 10,000. Kings, Monroe, Onondaga, Oneida, Westchester, Albany, Rensselaer, St. Lawrence and Erie all gave the measure handsome majorities. The majority is nearly 490,000.

000. In discussing the proposition today state engineer Bengel said that the vote shows that the people of this state are taking an active and lively interest in the movement for good roads and also further proves that they believe in the further extension of public ownership in the means of transportation.

FINANCING AN UPRISING

Now that official reports and unofficial estimates afford a basis there is much comment on the amount of money collected and expended by the progressives in the recent campaign. In some quarters the figure is put at $2,000,000 and some carpers say that the sum is hardly ascertainable with a campaign expressing a spontaneous movement of the people for better government.

Why, they ask, ask such? Let it be admitted that at the start here were men who believed that a great upheaval was at hand, and would express itself at the polls. There were some such men who really had grown impatient with both of the old parties and saw the need of a new one. Here was a practical man, there an idealist, Yonder a dilettante, with no clear perception of anything, but only a passion for the limelight.

But when it became plain, as it must have done months before election day that this was a dream and that whatever rising took place would have to be helped up by the homely agencies of life and politics, why did the idealists and the dreamers consent to go along with the practical clowns who had never been in darkness about the business for a minute? Why did they not separate from the Perkins and the Fernalds—thoroughly practical men—and go in for true progressiveness on the proper lines, or retire into their studies and wait a more propitious time for hurrying the millennium?

But there is a more important question. What are these men going to do about 1916? If an expenditure of $2,000,000 this year could accomplish no more than embarrass and defeat the Republican party, how much will be necessary to continue the warfare on that party, and at the same time "take on" the victorious Democratic party as an antagonist for the next contest? One naturally answers, a mighty sight of money. This year's figures will be a mere bagatelle by comparison.

Who will put up? The practical men should head the list, and some may be willing to send good money after bad. Mr. Perkins, for one, should respond. But in what measure? This time he was the fount of many financial blessings. Whenever Chairman Dixon got hard up he went to Perkins, and never in vain. His tribute to his friend, paid on the witness stand before the Clapp committee, was well expressed, and seemed to come from the heart.

Still, as the lead will henceforth be paid.

much heavier, Mr. Perkins must have assistance. He cannot be expected to finance for four years an uprising which for eight months this year emptied his own and other pockets.—Washington Star.

MAY GO TO VOTERS.

Concord Postmastership Causing Politicians Much Worrimont.

Reports and dispatches coming from Washington have it that the fight for the position of postmaster at Concord will be submitted to a primary vote of the people of that city.

This method of choice has been reported to in the designation of postmasters in some other cities. It is not impossible that President Taft and Postmaster General Hitchcock, under the circumstances, may consent to submit to the voters of Concord the selection of a successor to the present incumbent of the Concord office, whose term expires in the forthcoming month of December. For the expiring Republican administration to attempt to force the reappointment of General Brown for a third term of four additional years, in the face of the new immediate Democratic administration, representing a radical change in principle and policy, would probably be regarded as inconsistent, if not discourteous and arbitrary and after a conference, in which President-elect Wilson will undoubtedly be a party, an amicable compromise may be expected whereby the people of Concord themselves as other constituencies have done, will be permitted to vote an expression of popular preference among the various aspirants that are expected in the field as candidates from the several political parties. Postmaster Brown, Mayor French, ex-Postmaster Byron Moore, Tax Assessor Michael Donovan, and Anson S. Marshall are some of the many names already mentioned at the hotels here in this connection. There is also a suggestion of promotion from the present clerical force of the postoffice in conformity to the civil service regime that now prevails so largely in the public service. It seems obvious that Postmaster John Brown's reappointment may not be so quietly accomplished as the Republican conservatives of New Hampshire anticipated.

An excellent housekeeper declares that she saves all the scraps of toilet and ivory soap and when she has a pint or more she puts them into a granite pan with half a cupful of water and melts it slowly on the back of the stove. Then she adds an equal quantity of coarse yellow cornmeal and when well beaten together she molds into hot cakes. Nothing is better for cleaning, whitening and softening the hands, especially the children's hands, which become soiled at school.

When washing blue calico rinse in water in which a few cents' worth of alum has been dissolved; then rinse in clear water and dry. A hot iron will impair the color of blue goods, but the color will sometimes return.

SENATOR GALLINGER WILL NOT RETIRE

Concord, Nov. 28.—Stories emanating from Washington and given wide publicity the last week to the effect that senator Jacob H. Gallinger is contemplating resigning is given little credence here, and the senators intimate friends deny that he has any such move in mind. Senator Gallinger could not be reached to interview as he left Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving in Boston.

Probably the erroneous report is based on the announcement given out a couple of weeks ago by James O. Lyford that this will be Dr. Gallinger's last term and that he will not be a candidate for reelection and that the republican standard-bearers are now looking around for a suitable successor to the senior senator's term.

JUDGE SAMUEL W. EMERY DIES SUDDENLY

Expired at His Home on Return From Boston--Was One of Foremost Lawyers.

Judge Samuel W. Emery died very suddenly Friday evening at his home on Maplewood avenue, after his return from his office in Boston. Judge Emery came down from Boston on the Pullman and took the car as far as Dennett street and walked the remainder of the distance home. When he arrived he complained to his wife that he was short of breath, and of a pain in his left side and without any warning, he dropped and died in a few seconds. Dr. W. O. Junkins was hurriedly summoned, but he was dead before he arrived. Heart disease was given as the cause of his sudden death. He has not been ill but has complained frequently of late of being short of breath.

The news rapidly spread about the city and it was a distinct shock, and there was a general expression of regret and sorrow, for nobody was better known or more respected in this section than Samuel W. Emery. He was one of the most brilliant lawyers this city has produced and his reputation was broadcast. He was a well known authority on electric railway legal matters.

Judge Emery was born in this city March 30, 1844, and he attended the public school graduating from the high school and afterward working as a newspaper correspondent for the Manchester Union and the Boston Herald. He studied law at the Harvard Law School and in the office of Judge Calvin Page. He rapidly came to the front as a lawyer, and he was elected City Solicitor soon after he was admitted to the bar. Later he became County Solicitor, and he was holding this office at the time of the Palmer murder, and successfully prosecuted the case.

Later he became judge of the police court, a position he held for many years.

He has been chief counsel for the New Hampshire Traction Company, which afterward became the New Hampshire Street Railway Company. He was also chief counsel for the Rockingham Light and Power Company. Some years ago his business with the railways was such that he gave up the practice of law in this city and opened an office in Boston at No. 6 Beacon street. He became a member of the Massachusetts Bar Association, and he was prominent in the Boston court, and before the Massachusetts legislature in street railway matters.

Judge Emery was prominent in politics in this city first as a Democrat and later as a Republican. He was a candidate for Mayor and was defeated by five votes and he also served his party in the legislature. He was a Past Grand Master of St. Andrews Lodge, A. F. and A. M. of this city.

He leaves by his first wife, two daughters, Mrs. H. M. Weeks of Amesbury, Miss Marguerite, a teacher at the Haven school and a son City Solicitor, Samuel W. Emery, Jr., two sisters Mrs. Joseph B. Forsyth, and Miss Carrie Emery of this city, and a brother, Peter Emery now in the West. He leaves a wife to whom he was married just 19 years ago yesterday, and an adopted daughter, Mrs. Hatch, wife of Major Charles H. Hatch, U. S. M. C., the commanding officer of the United States detention camp at Fort Royal, N. C.

The funeral arrangements will be announced later.
